Clipping Tells Of 1904 Party with Old Settlers Present

HARRISBURG HISTORY: How about a little local history lesson today from Prof. Timmo? Stick with me, friends, school isn't so bad, and besides, there is no tuition fee and no taxes to pay to keep the classroom going.

I was doing research for a special edition we're going to put out in a few weeks and was looking through a scrapbook that had belonged to the late Margaret Elder Taylor when I ran across a local clipping of February 1904. That makes it fifty years and a month old and we can call it our Golden Anniversary special.

The article tells of a Valentine party (see, they had valentines that long ago, young feller) at which a bunch of the old settlers of Harrisburg were present.

Present were Mrs. Kate Christy, Mrs. Lizzie G. Baker, Mrs. Minerva Towle, Mrs. W. G. Sloan, Mrs. M. C. Board, Mrs. G. Wiedemann, Mrs. Fanny Hibbetts, Mrs. James Elder, Mrs. E. W. Wiedemann and Mrs. W. P. Hallock.

Said the story: "They brought their own ratings and at once proceeded to take possession of the house and prepare for dinner; and this came on in due time in abundant quantity and excellent quality, except that Mrs. Baker's egg bread was not exactly true to name."

"At noon E. W. Wiedemann, W. P. Hallock and James Elder added themselves to the gathering and partook of the feast."

"After dinner a couple of hours was devoted to a review of the time when those assembled had first met, and to refresh their memories Mrs. Baker had brought a copy of the Chronicle, published by J. F. Conover and S. W. Forgy June 12, 1861, and Mrs. Elder a copy of the Register, published by F. M. Pickett February 7, 1872."

"The contents of these papers indicates vividly the fact that when those assembled first met the city of Harrisburg contained less than 400 inhabitants, that the only buildings on the west side of the square were Dr. H. R. Pearce's hotel and were Dr. H. R. Pearce's residence, on the southwest corner Jarvis Pearce's hotel in the corner of which Capt. W. G. Sloan kept the postoffice."

"On the south side was the John Tate corner with Peter Robinson's tin shop, where Mr. Hallock started in the drug business; and Capt. A. Nyberg and Dr. E. M. Provine's store with Jim Baker's store where Mr. Elder clerked."

"On the southeast corner Dr. J. W. Mitchell and J. W. Towle's store; on the east side E. W. Wiedemann's shoe store and grocery; on the north side General G. B. Raum and William Christy's office and Dr. V. Rathbone's drug store; on the northwest corner John Pruett's coffin shop and R. Mick's store — all frame shanties, some of them being sided up with four-foot boards dressed with a drawing knife."

"It was after this period that the postal money order system was established and Capt. Sloan became practically the banker as well as the postmaster of the place."

"The copy of the Chronicle mentioned above was in mourning for the death of Stephen A. Douglas, and that of the Register brought to our minds that this country then had a cold spell beginning the last week in January and lasting 21 days during which the thermometer was continuously below zero."

Senator George
Opposes Further
Excise Tax Cuts

Supports Republicans
In Billion Dollar
Reduction Measure

By United Press

Sen. Walter F. George (D-Ga.) threw his support today behind Republican efforts to keep any further big cuts out of the billion-dollar excise reduction bill.

Chairman Eugene D. Millikin (R-Colo.) of the Finance committee said he believed proposed additional cuts can be defeated.

George used to be chairman of the Finance committee and his influence on tax matters is great. At the start of today's session, the second day of debate on the excise measure, he left the chamber. He was not feeling well.

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (Tex.) announced that the veteran tax writer had left word that he is against all further amendments to the bill except those approved by Millikin.

The Senate already has voted cuts—not approved by the finance group—in levies on household appliances and has before it proposals to slash the excise rates on cars, radios, and television sets. Millikin thought the new amendments would lose.

Other congressional news: Pros: House and Senate leaders decided to hire a professional police force to protect members of Congress. The decision stems from the March 1 shooting in which Puerto Rican fanatics wounded five representatives. The present Capitol police force consists mainly of men lacking previous police training of experience. They owe their jobs to political patronage.

"Collectivists": Former Asst. Secretary of State Spruille Braden said he thinks the State Department is largely in the hands of "collectivists." He said at a Senate Internal Security subcommittee hearing that "my feeling was that there were very few pro-Communists, but a large number of collectivists, misguided do-gooders and puppets."

State Police to Receive New-
Style Hats Monday

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. — Members of the Illinois State Police will have a new look beginning March 29.

Effective at that time, the visor, chauffeur-type caps that have been a part of the uniform of the state police will be replaced by the felt, round-brim style.

A ceremony marking the uniform change will be held at 10 a. m. Friday outside the state armory building. Justice Joseph E. Daily of the state Supreme Court will give a talk at the ceremony.

Superintendent Phil M. Brown of the state police said the hats will serve a practical purpose in affording greater protection to men serving on special details in inclement weather. He pointed out that the police are on duty in the open handling the huge volume of traffic at the Illinois State Fair and on week-ends of University of Illinois home football games, and are called upon for many other special assignments.

"It seems that it is either raining or there is a hot sun beating down at these times," he said, "and the new hats will afford much greater protection."

New Concessionaire
Named for Giant
City State Park

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. — Changes in concessionaries at White Pines and Giant City state parks were announced Wednesday.

The State Conservation Department said William Skut, Morris, will take over at White Pines and Mrs. Mary A. Vaughn, Zeigler, will run the dining room and cabins at Giant City, starting next month.

The department said Jerry Liddy, Springfield, gave up his lease at White Pines in mid-February. Mr. and Mrs. George Whitney decided to surrender their lease at Giant City because of Whitney's illness, the department said.

WELL, WE CAN GET THINGS DONE, AFTER ALL

(Editorial)

Last week was a good week for Harrisburg. On two consecutive days our town took two big steps forward . . . two big steps toward the betterment of our community.

Last Wednesday, thanks to an inspired effort by Mrs. B. E. Montgomery's residential canvass organization and the Junior Chamber of Commerce's business district solicitations, the people of Harrisburg met and oversubscribed our Red Cross Blood Bank quota of 175 pints of blood for the first time. The best comment on this effort has been expressed in a letter to Mrs. Hellen Belt, executive secretary of the Saline County Red Cross chapter, from R. H. Brumett, administrator of the St. Louis Regional Blood Center. We'd like to quote from this letter:

" . . . Frankly, we were with the skeptics until you made real believers out of us. The people from Harrisburg really drew a true picture of their community when they realized they had a job to do. They proved that THEY CAN OPERATE AS A COMMUNITY AND DO AS WELL IN CIVIC PROJECTS, IF NOT BETTER, THAN ANY OTHER COMMUNITY by supporting the blood program 100%. There should be a great feeling of pride, security, and protection as the result of exceeding their obligation to produce 175 pints of blood on their last visit. It should be the ambition of everyone in Harrisburg to see to it that this record is maintained."

The next day, Thursday, Harrisburg took its second big step forward . . . we voted ourselves an ample, economical water supply. A strenuous campaign and sound organization on election day, spearheaded by the Jaycees in cooperation with civic organizations and businessmen, showed up in the lop-sided majority by which the Lake Harrisburg proposition carried at the polls . . . more proof that the people of Harrisburg . . . can operate as a community and do . . . well in civic projects."

The people who took part in these two outstanding projects deserve the sincere gratitude of the entire community. We want to suggest that this community spirit . . . this new-found knowledge of how to get things done around here, be put to continued use from now on. Next time, and the time after that, will be easier.

We can get things done, after all.
Let's get going!

Legislative Commission Ends Hearings
On Krebiozen; Finds No Conspiracy

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (UP) — The Illinois legislative commission investigating the "cancer drug" krebiozen planned today to complete its report without further hearings after announcing it found no evidence of a "conspiracy" involving the drug.

The 14-member commission voted Wednesday night to end hearings unless either side in the dispute asks a chance to give more testimony.

The decision was reached after a six-hour closed door session. Members could be heard arguing loudly through the doors of the legislative committee room.

The controversy over krebiozen started early in 1953 after Dr. Andrew C. Ivy, vice president in charge of the University of Illinois' Chicago professional colleges, had been ordered to stop clinical research on the drug.

Some members of the Legislature charged the order was given as a result of a plot by officials of the American Medical Assn. and others to get marketing rights to krebiozen.

On the other hand, Dr. George D. Stoddard, then president of the U. of I., who issued the order with the backing of the Board of Trustees, said there was no evidence the drug even existed.

Stoddard said Stevan Durovic, Yugoslavian who claimed its discovery, had refused to furnish a chemical analysis and the only supply seen and used was mixed in a solution which Durovic also refused to release.

The commission chairman, State Rep. William E. Pollack, said Wednesday no evidence of any conspiracy was found either on the part of the AMA or the university, as had been charged.

Pollack, a Chicago Republican, said the commission urged further research on krebiozen, adding this meant there should be some kind of controlled study of it.

The chairman said the question of whether Ivy should be reinstated as vice president did not arise. Ivy took a leave of absence after he was ordered to halt krebiozen research. He has since returned to the university but not in his former post.

Drew Pearson
Demands Probe
Of Charges

Columnist Makes
Counter-Charges Against McCarthy

WASHINGTON (UP) — Columnist Drew Pearson today spurred on his reopened feud with Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy by demanding a grand jury investigation of charges and counter-charges exchanged by them.

In a letter to Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell Jr., Pearson said the Wisconsin Republican's charges that he violated the Espionage Act should be submitted to a grand jury. Pearson said the same jury should investigate five charges against McCarthy involving possible violations of the Espionage and Corrupt Practices acts.

McCarthy charged Wednesday that two "Mr. Murphys"—one a former employee of the Munitions Board and the other a former Justice Department worker—gave Pearson "secret" information.

Pearson denied any wrongdoing but told Brownell he "would be delighted to have you submit all of Senator McCarthy's allegations to a grand jury."

He said the same jury should investigate any charges that McCarthy violated the Espionage Act last September when he published a 75-page "restricted" Army intelligence report on Siberia. Pearson also accused McCarthy of another Espionage Act violation during a 1951 speech in which he made public a dated military report from Korea which, Pearson said, "makes it possible for a foreign power to break the code."

Pearson also asked for an investigation of charges that McCarthy accepted $10,000 from Rep. Alvin Bentley (R-Mich.) and his wife for fighting communism. He said a Senate subcommittee reported the money was used to speculate on the soybean market.

The newsmen further asked Brownell to check McCarthy's finances, because, he said, the senator deposited $172,623 in a bank account in four years—"a lot of money for a senator with a salary of $12,500." He said McCarthy had also "borrowed" the bank account of his assistant, Ray Kiermas.

Continue Vets'
Hospital Care,
Committee Asks

WASHINGTON (UP) — Congress appeared today to have headed off moves to curtail free hospital care for veterans, at least for the present.

The House Veterans Committee, winding up hearings which took 1,265 printed pages of testimony, recommended Wednesday that existing veterans hospital policies be continued.

And the House Appropriations Committee was reported ready to accept the recommendation. This is the committee which a year ago issued the wrath of organized veterans by proposing new restrictions on free treatment of ailments not due to military service.

In a unanimous report the Veterans Committee endorsed not only unlimited treatment for men with ailments resulting from service, but also continued free care of ailments not due to service where beds are available and the veteran can't afford private care.

The committee also said Congress should drop the subject until the Veterans Administration has had time to test fully a new regulation aimed at preventing abuse of the non-service connected hospital privilege by ex-GIs who actually have plenty of money.

Under an old law, VA must take the word of the veteran who says he can't afford private treatment. However, the agency has ruled that the applicant now must disclose his assets and liabilities. Because of the law, he can't be denied care, even though wealthy. But VA thinks the disclosure will deter cheaters.

Dr. William F. Johnson, Eldorado dentist, has bought the old Dering mine property between Eldorado and Raleigh, it was revealed today in a warranty deed filed at the court house.

Purchase was made from the American Mining Corporation of St. Clair county, Illinois, and he receives all the surface and remaining coal underlying the surface land he bought that was formerly the Dering mine property.

Cross Approves
Study of Polio
Vaccine in State

SPRINGFIELD (UP) — The way was practically clear today for the experimental use of a new polio vaccine in Illinois.

Dr. Roland R. Cross, state public health director, late Wednesday announced he had okayed a committee report recommending a proposed control study of the new Salk polio vaccine in Illinois.

The Illinois poliomyelitis technical advisory committee drew up the report at a meeting in Chicago last Friday night. Previously, the committee and Cross had withheld their approval of the vaccine pending further study.

The committee report approved by Cross said the proposed study is "an extremely important one" and there is "a reasonable chance" the vaccine will be effective. It called for tentative approval of the vaccine "so that planning may proceed."

"Such approval should stipulate that evidence from clinical trials prior to those in Illinois should continue to demonstrate safety and effective antibody response," the report said.

Should such trials show either of these to be untrue, the study should not be further pursued, at that time," the committee said.

Cross' office said probably three or four Illinois counties will be selected to take part in the control study. They will be picked after conferences between the department, the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, and county health authorities.

Illinois has been testing its own polio vaccines with inoculations of a group of children in Morgan County. This vaccine was developed by a Chicago doctor employed by the state. Results of the Morgan County tests aren't expected for several weeks.

Issue Drilling
Permits for Five
More Oil Tests

Oil activity continued in Eldorado and Raleigh townships with the issuance at Springfield this week of drilling permits for four tests in Eldorado and one in Raleigh.

In Raleigh township a permit went to the Dee Miller Drilling Co. of Lawrenceville for the Spurlock-Rapp-Guns Communized No. 2, in the SE corner of the NE quarter of the SW quarter of Section 2, which is in the northeast part of the township.

The Eldorado permits: To the Calvert Drilling Co. of Olney for the Stinson et al. No. 1, in the SE corner of the NW quarter of Section 17; To the Carter Oil Co. of Tulsa, Okla., for the J. R. Davenport No. 2, in the SW corner of the NE quarter of the NW quarter of Section 24; To the Ashland Oil and Refining Co., Henderson, Ky., for the Victor Suttner No. 3, in the SE corner of Section 7; To Ashland for the George Watson et al. No. 1, in the NE corner of Section 18.

Air Force Academy Nears
Final Congress Approval;
See Contest on Location

WASHINGTON (UP) — An Air Force academy to join West Point and Annapolis in producing officers for the armed services—and undoubtedly football teams—was a couple of short steps from final congressional approval today.

The House and Senate are expected to approve by next week a conference report compromising differences between authorization bills passed by the two houses.

The compromise was worked out late Wednesday and its approval is expected to be virtually automatic.

Air Force Secretary Harold E. Talbott has told congressional committees that classes will get underway at a temporary site in June of 1955.

The final version of the bill authorizes a total of 126 million dollars in appropriations for the school.

Woman is Hurt
In 3-Car Collision
On Highway 45

A Michigan woman was treated at Ferrell hospital this morning for injuries received in a collision involving three cars at 8:15 a. m. on Route 45 at the Starlite Drive in theatre between Harrisburg and Eldorado.

Hurt was Mrs. Harold George Peterson of East Tawas, Mich., in a pickup truck driven by her husband toward Eldorado.

State Policeman Carl Pendell of McLeansboro, who investigated, said Peterson's truck figured in a collision with autos driven by Glen Hafford and Harold Hafford of Eldorado.

Glen's car would not start and Harold's auto was pushing it on Route 45 trying to get it started, Pendell stated. At the drive-in, he said, Glen's car was pushed onto the theatre driveway and while Harold's car was still on the highway, it and the Peterson truck collided, both machines striking the other vehicle.

Fourteen tornadoes in the Southwest left a scattered pattern of property damage and at least one dead.

Nine of the twisters Wednesday struck or were sighted in Oklahoma and the other five in north central Texas as high winds, hail and thunderstorms lashed those areas. No major injuries were reported from the twisters and some of which did not touch the ground. Scattered estimates of property damage did not appear extremely high.

One man, George D. Franklin, was killed south of Denton, Tex., but police said high winds, rather than a tornado, were responsible. He was crushed by a wooden fence that blew over as he tried to brace it against the wind.

Tinker Air Force Base near Oklahoma City, headquarters of the Air Force National Tornado Warning Service, reported sighting three tornado funnels in the air about 8:20 p. m. None did any damage.

Meanwhile, much further south in Texas than the storms struck, Del Rio reported a high temperature of 101 degrees Wednesday, the state's first reading of the year over 100.

To Try Murder
Case Before 11
Jurors at Carmi

CARMI, Ill. (UP) — A missing witness turned up today as the prosecution prepared to present its case against Raleigh Williams, 34-year-old Enfield field worker who is accused of murdering a White County deputy sheriff.

Otis Wrenn, Enfield, who is believed to be the only witness to the fatal shooting of Deputy Lowell Proctor, 62, in Enfield last Dec. 26, made a surprise appearance today, just before the trial was to resume before Circuit Judge Sawell Crebs.

Proctor allegedly was shot by Williams and Wrenn for creating a disturbance.

It was believed Wrenn would be a defense witness. Sheriff's officers had been searching for him since he disappeared after the shooting.

Prosecuting and defense attorneys agreed Wednesday night to try the case before a jury of 11 men after they failed to find a 12th juror without prejudice in the case. Attorneys questioned 140 veniremen in three days after calling a total of 281 prospective jurors, the largest number ever called for a White County trial.

State's Atty. William A. South began presentation of the state's case today and it was indicated he would ask the death penalty.

Winds blew down wires and toppled trees on cars, houses and garages. Power was off for 1 1/2 hours. The roof was blown off a motel and some doors and windows were wrecked.

Lightning struck the Illinois Power Co. plant at Galesburg, hitting oil circuit breakers and throwing flaming oil over a huge room. The blast knocked out the plant's telephones.

An employee blew all the steam whistles at the plant, waking up the town. The fire department answered the alarm to douse the flames.

Forecaster Paul Sutton said at Springfield the showers were heavier over most of the northern quarter of the state, but were "appreciable all over the state."

"It's wonderful," Sutton said, "We need this badly, for the crops as well as for the water supplies."

There was half an inch of rainfall at Du Quoin, Marion and Harrisburg up to this morning.

Half-Inch Rainfall

Rainfall during the night measured exactly one-half inch at 8 a. m. today, Weather Observer Clyde Pittman reported.

From Southwest

14 Small Twisters
In South; More
Warnings Issued

By United Press

Tornado warnings were issued today for portions of the Ohio Valley and Dixie as a cold front which spanned 14 small twisters in the Southwest marched eastward.

U. S. weather forecasters warned of possible tornadoes until 2 p. m. CST, in a 60-mile-wide belt from Evansville, Ind., to Cleveland, Ohio.

Another tornado warning was issued for a 60-mile-wide path between Greenwood, Miss., and Nashville, Tenn., between noon and 4 p. m.

Widespread rain fell from East Texas to the Great Lakes and Middle Atlantic States.

Heavy snow fell from the Sierra Nevada range to the northern Rockies, with Billings, Mont., reporting nine inches, and snow and sleet fell from the northern Rockies to Minnesota.

An intense storm cutting through the Midwest was centered over eastern Iowa and caused high winds through much of the area.

Chicago was deluged by a spectacular thunderstorm which flooded basements and underpasses and totaled 2.30 inches. Streets and basements were flooded at Keokuk, Iowa, which had 4.35 inches.

Grand Rapids, Mich., had 2.93 inches; Kansas City, Mo., 1.37 inches; and Cleveland, Ohio, 1.56 inches.

It rained so hard in Cleveland Heights, a Cleveland suburb, that a fish, apparently washed up from the lake, was seen swimming in a gutter.

Fourteen tornadoes in the Southwest left a scattered pattern of property damage and at least one dead.

Nine of the twisters Wednesday struck or were sighted in Oklahoma and the other five in north central Texas as high winds, hail and thunderstorms lashed those areas. Rains, Winds
Hit Illinois

By United Press

Spring's first major storm showered Illinois with up to 4 inches of badly needed rain Wednesday night.

But while the showers were a Godsend to many areas, winds and lightning caused thousands of dollars of damage at some points.

Mayor Joe L. McAdam estimated a storm which struck Taylorville early today caused at least $250,000 damage.

Winds blew down wires and toppled trees on cars, houses and garages. Power was off for 1 1/2 hours. The roof was blown off a motel and some doors and windows were wrecked.

Lightning struck the Illinois Power Co. plant at Galesburg, hitting oil circuit breakers and throwing flaming oil over a huge room. The blast knocked out the plant's telephones.

The WASHINGTON
MERRY-GO-ROUND
by DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says:
New Look For Senate Probes
Of Communism; Spruille Braden,
Former State Department
Diplomat, Will Testify On Alger Hiss; Ex-Marine Sends His Medals To McCarthy.

WASHINGTON. — The new look for senatorial probes is being launched by Senator Jenner's internal Security Committee today with Spruille Braden, former assistant secretary of state, as the star witness.

Braden has prepared 10 revelations showing how communism or communist influences affected foreign policy during or immediately after the war, the most sensational of them involving Alger Hiss.

Possibly more important than Braden's revelations, however, will be the attempt by Senate Republicans to steal the Communist show away from Joe McCarthy.
Jenner has appointed a distinguished new chief counsel replacing Robert Morris — Charles Grimes, a former Dewey racket-buster and a New York attorney with a reputation for fairness. Grimes' plan is to lean over backward in presents evidence and give oppositional witnesses every opportunity to present their side.

The hearings are part of a plan outlined to McCarthy by Vice-President Nixon and Deputy Attorney General William P. Rogers last December in Miami when they tried to persuade McCarthy to go back to corruption-hunting and let the Jenner committee handle communism. Though McCarthy agreed to this at the time, he has been jumping the traces ever since.

Grimes, though appointed by Senator Jenner, was actually hand-picked by the Brownell-Rogers-Dewey group, with whom he had worked in the past.

Braden, the opening gun in the "new look" probe, will tell how,
as assistant secretary of state in 1946, he discovered that Alger Hiss had written a memo to the United Nations listing Panama as a country occupied by U. S. troops. Hiss had written the memo without consulting the Latin American division of which Braden was then in charge.

While it was true that U. S.
troops were stationed in some parts of Panama, in addition to the Canal Zone, Braden contended that the country was such was not "occupied" and that the listing of Panama as "occupied" would cause a disastrous reaction below
the Rio Grande. So he went to Dean Acheson, then undersecretary of state, who in turn tried to have Hiss withdraw the U. N. report. However, Hiss was away and could not be found.

Two or three days later, Hiss turned up, admitted he should have cleared his report with the Latin American division, but refused Braden's request that it be withdrawn. Though the report had not been made public, Hiss claimed it would put the United States in an embarrassing position to have it corrected.

Later the report was published and became grist for the Russian propaganda mill. According to Braden it seriously hurt our relations with Panama.

MCCARTHY'S MEDALS
Joe McCarthy has received one letter he isn't going to publish.
It's from a fireman on the Pennsylvania railroad, Jacob D. Brickley, an ex-Marine hero of Lockhaven, Pa., who collected his war medals, put them in an envelope and sent them to the senator from Wisconsin.

"Enclosed are all the medals I received while in the Marine Corps, plus a few extras," Brick-ley wrote McCarthy. "They aren't much, but they may serve you better. I mean make you a hero."

The medals included a sharp-shooter's bar, a unit citation, and theatre ribbons for the tough fighting at Guadalcanal and various parts of the Pacific. Brickley enlisted in 1942 and fought for three years all through the Pacific war.

"These medals I am sending you," Brickley wrote, "I would like to deliver personally. But I couldn't give you all the publicity you are used to receiving."

Undoubtedly he referred to the manner in which McCarthy had applied for and at first had been refused an air medal for taking trips

as an observer in Marine Corps planes. Eight years after the war, following continued pressure by McCarthy, the Marine Corps finally awarded him the air medals he requested, at a ceremony which McCarthy arranged in his own office.

"You do not deserve the Purple Heart because of your foot in a bucket episode," Brickley wrote.
"From here on you deserve to be known as 'Bucket-Foot Joe,' instead of 'Jumping Joe.'"

Brickley referred to the fact that McCarthy claimed he was wounded in action when actually he hurt his foot while climbing around the ship with a bucket tied to his foot during a crossing-the-equator initiation ceremony.

Note — The Lockhaven Express, which interviewed Brickley, passed the story on to the Harrisburg office of the Associated Press, which replied that it would be necessary to "clear it with New York." It was not cleared.

ARMY CAMP VACUUM

While the Air Force plans to open five new fields in various parts of the U. S., the Army is closing down one of its historic bases, Camp Pickett, Va., which could just as well be turned over to the Air Force—all as part of the policy of not letting one branch of the service know what the other is doing.

Camp Pickett covers 45,000 acres of level farmland near Blackstone, Va., and originally the people of that area didn't particularly want the camp. Now that it has caused the removal of farm families and drastically changed the landscape, however, they face an economic upheaval if the camp closes. Because of this, nearby citizens were promised advance notice if the Army decided to move.

As far as the Army was concerned, the promise was kept. It did not propose to move. But Secretary of Defense Wilson, with one stroke of his pen, crossed out the Camp Pickett appropriation, giving local citizens only 36 hours advance notice of their fate.

Since then aroused citizens have retained Graham Morison, former Justice Department assistant attorney general who brought an injunction against John L. Lewis.
And Morison has been working either to turn the camp over to the Air Force or permit the people of Virginia to acquire the property. To that end, a bill creating a "Camp Pickett Authority" is being introduced in the Virginia legislature with the blessing of Senator Byrd to create an organization to negotiate for the camp's purchase.

area April 5, scheduled to hit at least 21 towns during a six-week period.

This year, the children's play,

dates were expected to be filled before the tour starts.

tumes and scenery which they transport in a school bus. For their theatrical experience, starting with rehearsals last week and continuing through the end of the spring term early in June, the cast members will receive 12 quarter hours of college credit.

The troupe was so well received in its initial tour last spring that some requests for bookings have been in for almost a year.

Child Killed Soon After Arrival from London for Visit

CRESCENT CITY, Ill. (AP) — The 16-month-old son of an American working in London was killed Wednesday night only a few hours after arriving for a visit with his grandparents.

The child, Anthony Allen Paul,
was riding in a car with his mother, Mrs. Elizabeth J. Paul, and his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus Padgett, Martinsville, Ill., after arriving at Chicago Midway Airport Wednesday afternoon.

Police said the car skidded on wet pavement, hit a concrete culvert and overturned. They said the baby apparently drowned in the water of a roadside ditch.

The other three passengers of the car were hospitalized at Watseka.

Mrs. Paul and her son had planned to visit with her parents in Martinsville for about two weeks before returning to London.
The grandparents had never seen the child.

Trade Mission to Visit Europe, L. America, Asia

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department Wednesday named 34 private trade experts who will leave for Europe, Latin America and Asia next month to explore ways of opening up markets for American farm products.

Asst. Secretary of Agriculture
John H. Davis, told a news conference the department hopes the trade mission will begin the "tuning up" job needed to put the United States back in a position of aggressive sales promoting. He said this was neglected during booming demand years during and after World War II.

Davis said the mission's primary job will be to boost free market sales, rather than look for ways to dispose of government surpluses.

He said the mission will return
late in May.

Davis emphasized that the missions are for promotional work.
"They're not going over to take orders," he said.

Members of the missions include:
Northern Europe: Berry Acres,
editor of The Farmer, St. Paul, Minn.; Chris. Milus, Nebraska
Farmers Union, Omaha; W. R. Ogg, American Farm Bureau Federation; George M. Strayer, American Soybean Assn., Hudson, Iowa.

Southern Europe: B. F. Beach,
Michigan Milk Producers Assn.,
Adrian, Mich.; P. O. Wilson, National Livestock Producers Assn., Chicago.

Asia: J. S. Russell, Des Moines
Register and Tribune farm editor.

Latin America: Dr. Harry J.
Reed, dean of Purdue University College of Agriculture; A. B. Spar-hoe, Millers National Federation, Minneapolis, Minn.; and Milo K.
Swanton, Wisconsin Council of Agricultural Cooperatives, Madison.

Business Leaders Urge Industry to Move Into Area

ST. LOUIS — Southern Illinois business and industrial leaders Wednesday called on manufacturing to come into their area to offset losses in the mining industry.

Mining jobs have decreased in recent years by more than half, Geoffrey Hughes, executive director of Southern Illinois Inc., told Chamber of Commerce officials here.

Manufacturing has not taken up the slack, he said.

Hughes cited improved labor relations in Southern Illinois as an inducement for industry to come into the area.

File Motion to Dismiss Evan Dale Indictment

EAST ST. LOUIS, Ill. — A motion to dismiss an income tax evasion indictment was filed in Federal Court here Wednesday in behalf of Evan R. Dale, southern Illinois labor leader.

The motion charged that recent labor racketeering publicity makes it impossible for any labor leader to be tried without prejudice.

Golden Wedding March 27 Of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Mitchell

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Anderson Mitchell, 203 East Walnut street, will observe their Golden Wedding anniversary March 27. They plan to make a trip to Dubuque, Iowa and will be at the home of their daughter, Mrs. J. R. Erkman, there on the anniversary date.

They were married on an Easter Sunday afternoon, March 27, 1904, at the home of the bride's parents. The officiating minister was the Rev. James Hugh Blackman, an uncle of the bridegroom, who performed the wedding ceremony in the presence of relatives of each of them.

Recalling the ones at the wedding, Mrs. Mitchell said that only one is alive and that is her sister, Mrs. E. W. Cummings, 409 East Poplar street, Harrisburg. L. C. Blackman and Oscar Church, who were the official witnesses signing the wedding certificate, are each dead.

Mrs. Mitchell is the former Haradenia Taylor, daughter of Robert M. Taylor and Frances Colbert Taylor. Mr. Mitchell is the youngest son of the late Josiah and Rachel Church Mitchell.

Their entire lifetime has been spent in Saline county and they are both in excellent health.

Their children are well known in Harrisburg. They are Robert C. Mitchell, building contractor in this city, Edward T. Mitchell, employed by the New York Central Railroad, and Jane Erkman, wife of J. R. Erkman, Dubuque, Iowa. They have three grandchildren, Robert L. and Mac Mitchell, sons of Robert Mitchell, and James Erkman, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Erkman. Robert L. is in Korea but expects to return home this summer. Mac and James are seven and six years old respectively.

Mr. Mitchell has two sisters, Mrs. Fannie Driskell, Rt. 3, Harrisburg, and Mrs. Ada Lane, Harrisburg, and one brother, Wilson Mitchell, Mattoon.

He has been in the building industry since 1922, first being employed by the late Walter Boatright and since 1929 as an independent contractor. He has helped to build all of the schools of this city, has done much contract work at the Lightner hospital, and has worked upon many other public buildings in this city, besides building many of the finer private homes. All of his building has been in this immediate area, in which his ability has been given widespread recognition.

Mrs. Mitchell, a member of the First Baptist church, has been active in its various departments of work for many years, and is at present a teacher at the First Baptist church mission on East Locust street. Mr. Mitchell is at present engaged in remodeling the former Saline hotel building into an education building for the First Baptist church.

Carpentier Asks Motorists to Report Shakedown

CHICAGO — Secretary of State Charles Carpentier today asked motorists to report any "shakedown" attempts by state driver's license examiners.

Earlier this week Carpentier fired five employees in Chicago area license stations and suspended eight others for taking or soliciting bribes from applicants.

Wednesday he conferred in secret with Cook County State's Atty. John S. Gutknecht on possible prosecutions and on continuing the investigation.

It was also learned Carpentier told Gutknecht he has evidence that dishonest examiners "shook down" Chicago motorists for about $1,000 a week in return for driver's licenses.

Carpentier said the investigators were able to get licenses for $5 fees, despite faulty information on their applications.

Some drivers have been "browbeaten or threatened with the refusal of their driver's license unless they paid off," he said.

Olson Predicts April 2 Victory Over Kid Gavilan

CHICAGO (AP)—Carl "Bobo" Olson figured today he would beat welterweight champion Kid Gavilan and retain his middleweight title April 2 simply because "I fight all the time."

"Gavilan," he said, "he's a now and then fighter. He fights for a while, then he backs away and rests for a while."

"But he won't do that against me. I won't let him. I like to fight all the time, and I'll make him fight all the time."

"We'll see whether he can fight for 15 rounds. I know I can, because I've done it. And I like to do it."

Olson, who has won 54 of his 60 fights since he turned pro at the age of 17 in Honolulu, will be making the 17th defense of the world 160 pound crown he won from Randy Turpin of England last Oct. 21.

The battle with Gavilan will be the fourth time Olson has been involved in a middleweight title scrap. He lost a 15 round decision to former titleholder Ray "Sugar" Robinson, in San Francisco March 13, 1952. Then he won the American middleweight crown from Paddy Young in New York June 19, 1953, before he gained the world title against Turpin.

Miners' Exam Board At Eldorado April 24

The Illinois miners' examining board will conduct examinations for miners' certificates at Eldorado, at the mine rescue station, April 24 from 9 a. m. to noon. Candidates for examinations are required to produce evidence of at least two years' practical experience as a miner or with a miner.

Looking AT Sports

By ED KIRKPATRICK

Recently we made mention in this column of the publicity given a star cage player of the fair sex by Life magazine. The pictures and story grew out of the hardwood exploits of a Wilmette, Ill., girl who plays a terrific game. We have since learned that Hamilton county boasts several mighty fine girl basketball players in the grade school level, and Life's photographers could have found ample material downstate here.

For instance, there's Marilyn Lee, a seventh grader at Braden school in Hamilton county. Marilyn, tallest member on the squad, played center on the team this past season. What's more, Braden won the rural championship a couple of weeks ago, with Marilyn pouring in six points in the last 50 seconds to give the home team a 29-24 victory over Bunker Hill and the title.

Marilyn received honorable mention on the all-tourney team as did Yvonne Little of Mason school, another fine girl player. Marilyn evidently comes by her cage playing ability naturally, for her brother, Bob Lee, was varsity center on McLeansboro's standout club this year.

As for women coaches, Hamilton county has one of those too. She's Ione Darnell who tutors one of the rural cage teams. Yes, Life would have done well to turn up in Hamilton county.

The Greater Egyptian conference will stage its annual Spring "Play Day" festivities at Rosiclare this year. The date is Friday, April 23. Pope county's Pirates are the defending titlists. Play Day activities are divided into three major events: Table tennis, volleyball and feasts of strength. Individual points accumulated by team members throughout the day are totaled to determine the winning school.

Cave-in-Rock was second, Rosiclare third and Ridgway fourth last year. Ridgway placed first in the table tennis. Rosiclare swept the volleyball meet. Pope county took the strength contests, which consists of push-ups, squat thrusts, pull-ups and rope climb.

Galatia and Ridgway are both planning to compete in the day's program again this year, but Shawneetown will not participate.

This week at Shawneetown Coach Barney Genisio is directing an inter-class school tourney, with the freshmen meeting the sophomores and the juniors taking on the seniors in the opening round. It might be mentioned in passing that Shawneetown loses only three men off this year's team which surprised many by winning the district tournament and advancing into the semifinals of the regional before losing out. Back next fall for more basketball will come veterans Bobby Spottsville, Garrison Newsom and Jack Nolen from this year's starting five. Graduation will take Danny Duff, Bob Shell and Lee Ray Willis.

Norkus Belts Nardico for 10- Round Decision

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Charley Norkus, awkward heavy-weight slugger from Jersey City, was somewhat miffed today because he had failed to score a single knockdown while belting Danny Nardico back into the light-heavyweight ranks.

"I hit him some good shots, but he just wouldn't go down," said bull-shoothered Charley, describing in a mouthful his bruising but bounceless return TV bout with Nardico of Tampa, Fla., before a record auditorium crowd of 4,059 Wednesday night.

The unanimous 10-round decision meant Charley's fifth straight victory. Nevertheless, it was a sort of let-down. He had floored Nardico six times in their memorable brawl in the same ring on Jan. 20. Of course, Norkus also hit the canvas twice that night before he stopped Danny in the ninth round. Says "I'm Convinced."

Nardico, seventh ranking light-heavyweight contender, didn't go down Wednesday night. But he was staggered 11 times, four in the last round. The battering by left hooks and looping rights convinced game Danny he should stick to his own class.

He said today, "I'm convinced. No more heavyweights for me. It's just too tough, giving up all that weight to a guy like Norkus." Those were sad words from a light-heavy who was almost matched with Rocky Marciano for a heavyweight title fight last February.

Wednesday night Nardico spotted Norkus 18 pounds and he tired under the pace and the punishment in the late going. Danny scaled 180 1/2 pounds to Norkus' 198 1/2.

The three ring officials favored Norkus on points as follows: Referee Jimmy Peeler, 98-96; Judge Morris Feingold, 97-91; Judge Stuart Winston, 98-91. The United Press agreed, 97-91.

Cardinals Going All Out to Win the Pennant, But Pitching Worries Stanky

By LEO H. PETERSEN

UNITED PRESS SPORTS EDITOR
ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals are going all out to win the 1954 National league pennant, but Manager Eddie Stanky is afraid that he might not have enough pitching to do it.

Otherwise, he feels his club will be a top contender all the way. "Pitching will tell our story in 1954," Stanky said. "Right now means I'm going to have to come up with a lot of pitching strength and I frankly don't know whether the talent is there."

It may be that the Cardinals will try to deal for a starter before the season opens for Stanky could well be loaded with good trading material if two rookies come through for him—Tom Alston at first base and Alex Grammas at short. That would mean he could

DuSable Loses To St. Mel in Chicago Playoff

Newspaper Offers
To Underwrite
Game with Mt. Vernon

CHICAGO (AP)—DuSable, unbeaten in high school basketball competition until the final game of the "Sweet Sixteen" tournament last week, came a cropper again Wednesday night when they lost to St. Mel in the Chicago playoff game, 83-74.

St. Mel, Catholic league champion, pulled ahead 63-58 at the end of the third quarter and hung on for the remainder.

The game was played before 15,363 fans, largest crowd to see a prep basketball game in Illinois history. Officials said more than 5,000 fans were turned away.

Seven players were ejected from the game on fouls, three St. Mel players and four of the DuSable squad.

Pat Boyle, a 6 foot 1 1/2 inch forward, led all scorers with 22 points. DuSable's Charley Brown hit for 20 for the losers and Paxton Lumkin and Shelle McMillon tallied 18 for DuSable.

A Chicago newspaper (the Sun-Times) volunteered to underwrite the cost of a game between St. Mel and Mount Vernon, winners of the state championship.

The newspaper said it suggested the game between the Chicago champions and Mount Vernon to "determine the real Illinois high school champion."

Schools in the Catholic league do not participate in the district regional playoffs which determine entrants in the state finals at Champaign.

DuSable made the best showing of any Chicago team in the 47-year history of the state tournament, going to the final game before losing a thriller to Mount Vernon, 76-70.

Rep. Velde Faces New Revolt in House Committee

WASHINGTON (AP)—Chairman Harold H. Velde (R-Ill.) was confronted today with another open revolt in his House Un-American Activities Committee.

The latest challenge to his leadership was sparked by Rep. Bernard W. (Pat) Kearney (R-N.Y.) who ranks immediately behind Velde on the investigating group. Kearney told a hastily summoned news conference Wednesday that the committee's staff setup is "rotten and intolerable" and ought to be "cleaned up immediately."

He demanded a quick showdown with Velde, but the chairman, who is campaigning for reelection in Illinois, arranged to stall him off at least until April 1. Velde was not available for immediate comment on Kearney's attack.

It was the first blowup within the committee since Velde abruptly fired Louis J. Russell, the committee's $11,600-a-year chief investigator, two months ago.

At that time, Kearney and Rep. Francis E. Walter (D-Pa.) protested that Velde had blocked a needed reorganization of the staff by taking matters into his own hands and firing the top man. Velde, however, won a majority vote of the committee upholding his action.

Sky Pilot Ordered To Quiet Sermons

McKEESPORT, Pa. (AP)—Police today asked a "sky pilot" to quiet down his sermons.

Police Chief James Loizes said he had received numerous complaints about the sermons and hymns delivered by the Rev. Kirk Wetzel through loudspeakers attached to his private plane.

Wetzel, an aviator for 23 years and a former test pilot, became a minister in 1950.

Pennant, But Pitching Worries Stanky

deal such players as Solly Hemus, who is being sought by several clubs, and Steve Bilko, the heavy hitting but poor fielding first baseman.

Pitching Prospects
Harvey Haddix, the 20-game winning left hander; Gerry Staley, who won 18 last season, and Vic Raschi, the $75,000 purchase from the Yankees, are the only starters Stanky is counting upon now with the aging southpaw, Al Brazle, the No. 1 bullpen flinger.

Stanky is hopeful that Stu Miller, who won only seven in 1953, will win a starting berth and that two Pacific Coast league graduates, Royce Lint and Memo Luna also can make the grade. Lint won 22 at Portland, Luna 17 at San Diego.

Other prospects are Tom Poholsky, back from military service, and two sore-arm righthanders, Joe Presko and Eddie Yuhus. Yuhus had a great freshman year as a reliever in 1952, but arm trouble plagued him all of last season. Presko won only six games while losing 13.

All in all, the pitching picture is not bright, but so long as owner Gus Busch keeps on pouring money in his ball club there is always the chance that they will strengthen that department.

The outfield is all set with Stan Musial in left, Rip Repulski in center and Enos Slaughter in right. A rookie, Wally Moon, has looked good and may win the No. 1 utility spot with Peanuts Lowery also in the picture.

Only Red Schoendienst at second and sophomore Ray Jablonski at third are set in the infield. Alston and Bilko are fighting for the first base job with Grammas, Hemus and Dick Schofield in the battle for the shortstop post. Schofield is a bonus player who will have to stay with the club.

The veteran Pete Castiglione will be around for utility duty.

Del Rice, one of the best defensive receivers in the business, will be the No. 1 catcher, with rookie Dick Hand, who hit .284 at Houston last season, having the inside track for the No. 2 job ahead of Sal Yvars and another rookie, Bill Saml, a .277 hitter at Columbus.

Moscow Paper Says Documents Reveal Spying

MOSCOW (AP)—A Moscow newspaper published charges today that American military attaches left documents in a railroad train which indicated they were spying along the Trans-Siberian railroad.

The trade union newspaper Trud published the charge, quoting a train conductor as saying he found the documents.

Trud said that a check with the Intourist Bureau showed that four members of the military staff of the United States embassy were in the train in question.

Named as aboard the train were Lt. Col. Howard L. Felchlin, military attaché; Maj. Martin J. Manhoff, assistant military attaché; Maj. Walter A. McKinney, assistant air attaché; and Air Force Sgt. Eugene Williams.

No Comment by Embassy
Felchlin, Manhoff and Williams are still in the embassy here. McKinney is somewhere else in Europe, probably in Germany, making up flying time.

Chief Conductor G. Kharin said that the documents showed the men who left it in the train took photographs of an air field and an oil dump from the train and made notes of the site of air fields, fuel dumps, radio stations, industrial plants, bridges and power stations. The Americans left the train at Khabarovsk in Siberia, Trud said.

Army Refuses Shine Application For CID Training

CAMP GORDON, Ga. (AP)—Pvt. G. David Shine has been denied his application to enter the Army's criminal investigations division when he ends his controversial basic military training, it was reported today.

A member of the base office personnel who declined to be named said Shine received his new orders Wednesday and that he is getting "a pretty good deal" but not the several days he had requested several days earlier.

The 26-year-old former aide of the investigating subcommittee of Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.) will be graduated at a public ceremony Saturday morning, ending eight weeks of military police training here.

The Army charged that McCarthy and his chief counsel, Roy Cohn, "pressured" the Army into giving Shine special favors while he was in earlier training at Ft. Dix, N. J.

Cohn and McCarthy afterward accused the Army of making Shine a "hostage" at Camp Gordon as part of a "blackmail" scheme against them. Base officials said Shine received the same treatment of other soldiers taking similar training during his entire stay here.

Thomas, with Seventh Home Run, Leads Pirates to Ninth Spring Victory, 10-4

By United Press

Pittsburgh's Frank Thomas, who needed a whirlwind finish in 1953 to wind up among the National League's leading home run hitters, was set today for an equally fast start that could enable him to dethrone Milwaukee's Ed Mathews in 1954.

The 2-year-old, 205-pounder closed last season with a thunderous salvo of 12 homers in 28 games and has stepped up that pace with seven round-trippers in the Pirates' 13 Grapefruit League contests. That total is matched only by rookie Jim Fridgey of the Baltimore Orioles, who have played three more games than the Pirates.

Thomas, who grew up in the shadow of Forbes Field, clouted No. 7 Wednesday as the surprising Pirates walloped the Philadelphia Athletics, 10-4, for their ninth victory of the spring. Thomas' 400-foot blow tied the score in the seventh inning and the Pirates went on to score five more runs for their triumph.

One-Two Batting Punch

Thomas finished the 1953 campaign with a total of 30 homers but General Manager Branch Rickey believes he can increase that total to 40 this year and team with 35-year-old Sid Gordon to give Pittsburgh its best 1-2 batting punch since 1947 when Hank Greenberg and Ralph Kiner totaled 76 homers. Gordon hit 19 as a member of the Milwaukee Braves last year but predicts that he will hit at least 30 this year.

Thomas bases his hopes for seizing a quick lead in the home run race on the surprisingly poor showings of the sluggers he figures to have to beat. Brooklyn's Roy Campanella has connected for only three homers this spring. Gil Hodges and Ted Kuszewski each hit his first Wednesday and Mathews has yet to hit one in Grapefruit League competition.

Indian Catcher Sidelined

Fridley, a Cleveland castoff, continued to be Thomas' "Arizona counterpart" Wednesday when his ninth-inning homer gave the Orioles their 11th win compared to five losses, but the Giant were encouraged by 37-year-old Sal Maglie's six innings of effective pitching.

The Cleveland Indians were dealt a blow when reserve catcher Mickey Grasso suffered a broken ankle and was sidelined for at least three months. Grasso suffered the injury when his spikes caught sliding into second base in the fifth inning of a 12-2 rout of the Chicago Cubs and Dr. George C. Truman disclosed the ankle was broken in six places. Bob Boyd doubled and singled.

Father of Eight Kills Wife, Self

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—A father of eight children murdered his wife and took his own life Wednesday after she threatened him with divorce.

Police said the father, Floyd R. Long, 51, shot his wife, Vera, 43, with a .22 caliber pistol in an upstairs bedroom of their home. He then fatally wounded himself in the head with the same weapon. Long died at a hospital.

His eldest son, Danny, 19, told police that his mother filed a divorce suit earlier this week.

He said his parents had gone to the upstairs bedroom to discuss the divorce when he heard her call to him. Then, Danny said, he heard two shots.

All of the eight Long children were in the house at the time of the shootings.

Begin Indoor Track, Baseball Practice In Davenport Gym

Indoor baseball and track practice got underway this week at HTHS with exercises being held in Davenport gymnasium.

Head Coach Lawrence Caluffetti said that 98 boys are out, 50 for baseball and 48 for track. Being stressed are running, calisthenics, demonstrations, and track starting. Caluffetti said the squad would practice outside as soon as the weather improves, probably by next Monday.

Assisting Caluffetti in track is Bill Cady, in baseball John Vander-Plum.

Thomas, with Seventh Home Run, Leads Pirates to Ninth Spring Victory, 10-4

in two at-bats but then retired with an aggravated charley horse in his left leg as the Chicago White Sox defeated the Cincinnati Redlegs, 6-4.

Cardinals Beat Dodgers
Right-hander Steve Gromek pitched four-hit ball for six innings and rookie Harry Bright singled in the ninth to drive in the winning run in the Detroit Tigers' 5-4 victory over the Milwaukee Braves. The Tigers snapped their own four-game losing streak and extended the Braves' losing skid to six games.

Stu Miller and Joe Presko held the Brooklyn Dodgers to four hits in eight innings and the St. Louis Cardinals scored four ninth-inning runs for a 3-2 triumph over the National League champions. It was St. Louis' 10th win in 16 games and its fourth in the last five.

In other games, rookie Bill Skowron hit his third homer of the spring as the New York Yankees overcame a five-run deficit to beat the Boston Red Sox, 11-7; Chuck Stobbs and Johnny Schmitz pitched a six-hitter in the Washington Senators' 7-1 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies.

Japan Claims A-Dust On Islands from U. S., Soviet Tests

TOKYO (UP)—A socialist member of Parliament said today that radioactive particles had been falling on Japan from two testing grounds—America's in the Pacific and the Soviets' in Siberia.

Dr. Shigeyoshi Matsumae said he obtained the information about the Soviet "fall outs" from American military sources whom he refused to identify.

Matsumae, who investigated the Hiroshima bombing, said ashes from the remote Siberian testing grounds had been sprinkled upon Japan regularly, according to his sources.

"The use of radioactive dust is the new trend in modern warfare," Matsumae said. He demanded government measures to "protect Japan."

As of the year 1962 a tax sufficient to produce the sum of $1,042.50 for principal and interest.

Should the proceeds of said tax at any time be insufficient for the payment of the principal of or the interest on said bonds when the same may come due, such principal or interest shall be paid promptly from current funds on hand in advance of the collection of the taxes herein provided, and when said taxes shall have been collected the said funds shall be reimbursed for the amounts so advanced.

Said tax shall be levied and collected in like manner and as other taxes levied by and for said Village.

SECTION 6. That all the revenues collected on account of the tax herein levied shall be deposited in a separate fund to be known as the "Bond Interest and Sinking Fund" and are hereby appropriated and set aside for the sole purpose of paying the principal of and the interest on the bonds authorized hereby as and when the same mature and come due.

Lt. Shoulders Says Tip Came From Costello

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UP)—Former St. Louis Police Lt. Louis Shoulders told a federal grand jury here that he thinks ex-convict Joseph Costello was the second anonymous tipster who led him to Carl Austin Hall, kidnaper of Bobby Greenlease.

Shoulders' testimony before the grand jury was made public Wednesday on order of Federal Judge Albert A. Ridge after attorneys for Shoulders won the right to inspect the transcript.

Shoulders and St. Louis police patrolman Elmer Dolan have been indicted for lying to the grand jury in the search for some $300,000 missing ransom money.

Shoulders quit the St. Louis police force after steadfastly refusing to give the name of his second tipster either to FBI men or top police officials. He had revealed that the first telephone call telling him that Hall was in St. Louis came from Louis Hager, an ACP Cab Co. driver.

Costello, described by Shoulders as an "old friend," was an officer of the cab company.

Under persistent questioning Shoulders admitted that he believes "in my own mind, and I can't prove it," it was Costello who phoned him about Hall several times after Hager first tipped him off.

He said he had seen Costello a few days after he arrested Hall last Oct. 6, but he had neither asked Costello nor had been told by him that the ex-convict had telephoned him about the case.

Costello denied before the same grand jury that he tipped off Shoulders.

Church Weekly Asks Non-Partisan Investigations

CHICAGO (UP)—The official Methodist church weekly, Christian Advocate, today recommended congressional committees investigating subversion be replaced by a non-partisan commission.

Calling for "statesmanship, not showmanship," the Advocate said in an editorial the issue of communism in government "is not a political issue, and is made such only at grave peril to the welfare of our country."

The magazine deplored "the bagging of big name witnesses, the hurling of wild, irresponsible charges, the broadcasting of inflated speeches designed to build up candidates for future elections, or tear them down."

The Advocate urged President Eisenhower to appoint the non-partisan body but did not say how congressional prerogatives should be overcome.

The issue of communism, the Advocate said, should not be a "political football, to be kicked around by two opposing factions, with shouting partisans on the sidelines."

"This is a time to continue the investigations relentlessly but take them out of politics," it said.

Music Conductor Is Fatally Beaten

HOLLYWOOD (UP)—Detectives investigating the death of Alberto C. Columbo, 65, said today they had not determined how the noted Hollywood music conductor and arranger was killed before his body was dragged through mud and dumped in his convertible.

Cuts and bruises on the body, however, indicated he had been beaten before he died.

Columbo's wife, Elizabeth, who divorced him in 1950, and his son, Alberto, identified the body. They could give no reason, police said, why he should have been in the residential neighborhood where his body was found.

Graft, Discord Snag Korean Reconstruction

By EDWARD R. KENNEDY
NEA Special Correspondent

SEOUL, Korea—(NEA)—Reconstruction in shattered Korea is seriously hampered by fund shortages, graft, corruption, old hatreds, inefficiency, international disagreements and general confusion. If not countered, these things might produce internally the victory the Communists failed to win in the field.

Reconstruction planners seek to lift the country back to its 1949 standard of living. But the goal is a long way off.

Relief programs have dumped tons of grain, boatloads of cement and stacks of lumber on Korean docks. But reconstruction is still largely a paper project, held in check by a maze of difficulties.

In a two-week survey of the $400 million program, NEA Service interviewed a host of officials all down the line, looked in at hospitals, orphanages and "model" villages, and studied flourishing black markets. Among those interviewed were President Syngman Rhee, Gen. John B. Coulter, representative for the UN Korean Reconstruction Administration, and C. Tyler Wood, coordinator for the Foreign Operations Administration (U. S. foreign aid program).

At the top Korean level—in Rhee's ivory tower—the picture is rosy. At the top UN level there is recognition of dwindling funds but undiminished needs. Down the line, there is confusion and dismay.

The fund shortage is fundamental. UN members pledged $207 million for Korean rebuilding, but so far only $95 million, including $66 million from the U. S., has been forthcoming.

Inflation and the need of the Korean government to support a sizable army at a cost double its economic capacity help to magnify the money problem.

What funds do exist serve to spark constant quarrels, both between Korean and UN officials and between military and civilian agencies. The result of this continual conflict is overlapping effort, extravagance, waste, and corruption.

Today there are eight major agencies charged with dispensing relief and reconstruction funds. UNKRA, Coulter's outfit, is the biggest. But like the others, it suffers fiscal anemia. Said Coulter: "Our position is precarious. At this time, I have gone beyond appeals to the UN negotiating committee. I have a representative appealing directly to most of the Western European governments with regard to future contributions."

FOA last year allocated $200 million to Korea but only $80 million has been committed because the agency and the Korean government can't agree on programs.

On the other hand, supplies have poured into the relief organizations, often with ironic results. One agency has $28 million worth of used clothing from all over the world. Said a spokesman for a Korean aid unit: "We've got enough clothing in warehouses to put four layers on every man, woman, child and dog in Korea. But among this stuff are high-heeled shoes, evening gowns with sequins, and such that will never be worn in this country."

The food situation bears similarities. An unexpected bumper harvest coming on top of 300,000 tons of grain imports has caused a pile-up of surpluses all over Korea. Most of the grain stands in open storage, breeding weevils.

So these basic elements of existence are not the immediate problem. In fact, right now the Korean people are the best clothed and fed of any Asians anywhere.

It's a different story when you examine plans and accomplishments for long-range reconstruction. For instance, the present blueprint calls for building 6000 homes in all South Korea, whereas at least 20,000 were destroyed in Seoul alone.

Farm and industrial production and general economic stability are puzzling matters. Sharp disagreements develop constantly between Rhee and the UN agencies. Some of these have their root in Korea's ancient enmity toward Japan.

To illustrate, Rhee said the agencies have spent more than $20 million buying fertilizer in Japan. He prefers to build plants so Korea can make its own fertilizer. "We don't have to give the Japanese money for the reconstruction of our country," he added.

But reconstruction experts note that to manufacture fertilizer Korea needs not merely a series of factories but either coal or hydroelectric power. Today it has neither in any quantity. Its best coal veins are not even mapped. But even if the power and facilities existed, experts say, the Japanese could still undersell them in the fertilizer field.

The Rhee government's annual budget is now $600 million, but only $300 million is collected in taxes. Rates do not exceed 20 per cent, despite the burdens of defense and rehabilitation. Those in power, profiting from the influx of foreign funds, are not eager to boost taxes.

In all talks with ROK authorities, one is impressed with the one-sidedness of the Korean viewpoint. Koreans simply refuse to face the fact that America—which saved them from the Communists after lifting the Japanese yoke—has other problems besides Korea.

Gov't to Make 'Limited' Potato Purchases

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Ezra T. Benson announced today the government will make "limited" purchases of surplus 1953-crop potatoes which have glutted the market and pushed down growers' prices.

Benson also said the government will subsidize the use of potatoes by starch and flour manufacturers under a "diversion payment program."

He emphasized that the federal potato purchases will be limited. The government will buy only as many as school lunch programs and other outlets can absorb. He said the government will take no action which could result in the "dumping of potatoes."

There was no indication just how many potatoes the government will buy.

Two Equality Teachers Will Not Return Next Year

In a survey of the teacher situation at Equality high school this week, it was revealed that all present members of the faculty, with the exception of two, would return next fall, provided contracts were offered.

Coach A. L. "Kay" Willis has notified school authorities he expects to be called into the armed services in July and will not be available next fall. The board has agreed to hold the post open until it is definite he will not be able to return.

Arnold Moser, social science teacher, informed the authorities he had other plans and did not wish to receive a contract.

Plans are being made to raise the annual increment from $25 to $50 a year. For the time being, the base salary will remain the same, but school officials plan a

Southern Illinois Editorial Ass'n to Meet April 23-24

The annual spring meeting of the Southern Illinois Editorial Association, to be held at Southern Illinois University, Carbondale, April 23-24, will include discussions ranging from vacation travel and sidelines of the printing business, to feature writing, photography, and community development.

F. M. Bond, publisher of the Tri-County Record, Dongola, and president of the SIEA, reported today that nearly 50 area newspapermen are slated to appear on the two-day program to share personal experiences and ideas with fellow editors and publishers.

Douglas B. Cornell, Associated Press Washington correspondent, will address the association's annual dinner on the evening of April 23. Cornell has covered major political events in the nation's capital for the Associated Press since coming to its Washington bureau in 1933. He now chiefly writes interpretative news for morning editions.

Friday sessions of the SIEA will be on the SIU campus. The evening dinner meeting and the Saturday business session will be held at Giant City State Park 10 miles south of Carbondale.

The school has a new movie projector and screen on order and delivery is expected next week. The old units were badly damaged last year in the June storm.

Bankston Fork Church Plans Unique Service

The Bankston Fork Baptist church, located five miles west of Harrisburg, will conduct a unique service Friday at 7 p. m.

This service is in keeping with the good spirit which has been in evidence and is being designed to catch the true feeling and spirit which prevailed among the church people some 30 to 50 years ago.

Friday evening the ladies will wear their print dresses and the men will come dressed in their blue denim pants or overalls. The church will be lit by kerosene lamps and the choir will gather around the old-fashioned organ to sing the old-time religious hymns.

For the past two weeks the church has been engaged in a revival meeting. The Rev. O. C. Cooper, pastor of the First Baptist church of Eldorado, is the evangelist. The public is invited to these services.

The Bankston Fork church has stood as a center for that community for one hundred years, being organized in 1854. The church plans a centennial celebration to be held on May 16.

The Rev. Paul E. Dann is the present pastor of the church.

In order of their size, the five great ocean areas of the world are the Pacific, Atlantic, Indian, Antarctic, and Arctic.

Small fry will walk in the Easter parade this year wearing fashions patterned closely after mother's. For little sister (left), there's a navy rayon faille redingote with deep open neckline and soft roll collar. Box jacket suit (right) for big sister is in slate blue rayon flannel. Princess coat for little sister has striped rayon-and-acetate taffeta lining that matches her Easter dress.

Cheese Was Cheese In Those Days

CHESHIRE, Mass. (U)—One sultry Sunday morning in July, 1801, Elder John Leland shuffled to the pulpit in the village church, but parishioners who anticipated the usual "wages of sin" text were in for a big surprise.

The subject of his sermon proved to be cheese.

Not any ordinary cheese, mind you. But a gargantuan Cheshire cheese fit for the president of the United States, who happened to be Thomas Jefferson.

"Let every Jeffersonian cow in our fair meadows be prepared to give her contribution to this great undertaking," trumpeted Elder Leland, a great admirer of Jefferson.

Busy were the ensuing weeks for both pastor and congregation. Farmers pastured their prize cows in lush meadows and almost urged them to overeat in hopes of swelling production.

Finally the cheese was cured and dried, and Elder Leland presided at its dedication, praising the handiwork of the Lord's children.

Early in December the huge cheese was trundled into a cart drawn by six oxen and started to Washington.

"The greatest cheese in America for the greatest man in America,"

Bishop Urges Public Works for Southern Illinois

Congressman C. W. "Runt" Bishop announced today in Washington that he has urged upon President Eisenhower the importance of a public works program in southern Illinois.

The purpose of such a program, the Congressman said, is to alleviate the labor surplus problems in the area.

"If we're ever going to do anything for people out of work," Representative Bishop said, "they had better get busy. Our problem is important and the Administration had better realize it soon. We want action."

The Administration has repeatedly announced that it is working on "a shelf of public works programs" to be used when the economic situation requires it.

Such a public works program, Congressman Bishop says, is required now in southern Illinois. He added that this would be a good place to try out the administration's plans.

"We... would work for southern Illinois," he said, "would show them the way to help labor distress areas in other regions."

Congressman Bishop also made a similar appeal before the Public Works committee of the House of Representatives.

The Baggetts Keep U. S. Marines in Business

PADUCAH, Ky. — The L. T. Baggett family believes it holds a record for the number of brothers serving in one branch of the military forces.

Seven Baggett brothers either have served in the U. S. Marine Corps since 1942 or are now Marines. During the past 11 years, there has been only one span of eight months in which there was not at least one Baggett brother in the Marines.

An eighth Baggett, now 13, naturally plans to join up when he reaches enlistment age.

During World War II, the Baggetts even tried to enlist their dog in the Marine canine service and felt rather insulted when told the dog was too small—but that the Army might accept him.

KILL WITH CARE

BY HUGH LAWRENCE NELSON

Copyright by Hugh Lawrence Nelson. Distributed by NEA Service, Inc.

THE STORY: Two "monsters" in a faked horror film publicity stunt, stabbed Police Chief Otto Drover. The only clue was a phone call which Jim Dunn, a private detective, and members of the Colorado City police force think may have come from Mr. Atwood, a banker. The call was received the morning before the murder. Meanwhile, Mayor Ed Stone has appointed Tony Hughes, a furniture dealer, temporary police chief.

Banker Atwood was finally located in his suite of rooms in a small hotel directly across the avenue from his bank. A small, wizened man, with a hard fish mouth, if he was glad to see Early and Dunn, he hid it well.

Early performed a rather vague introduction mumble something about the help Mr. Dunn was giving the Colorado City Police Department.

"It's too bad you weren't here," Jim went on. "You have a clear view of the front of the theater."

You might have been able to give us some help.

Atwood was not a man to waste words. He saved a few by keeping still now.

"We're under the impression," Dunn struggled on, "that Chief Drover was on his way to see you when he was killed."

"What gave you that impression?"

"The telephone conversation you had with the chief."

"What about it?"

That was a hard question to answer. Jim felt it would not do any good to ask directly for information. Only by pretending some knowledge he did not have could crowd this banker into any admission. Crowding Atwood was not an easy chore, certainly nothing to be undertaken casually.

"It upset Otto Drover," Jim said at last.

"Don't see why," Atwood said.

"Drover was upset at the wedding reception. He left to keep an appointment. With you, wasn't it?"

"Went to the wedding myself."

Atwood said. "Took my lunch hour to go. Didn't have time for the reception. But Otto could have talked to me at the wedding."

Jim remembered the crowds and doubted that.

"Your bank is in the Holt Block. Drover was killed walking north. He could have been on his way to see you."

"He could have been on his way to a good many other places," Atwood pointed out. His red-veined eyes moved swiftly back and forth between the two visitors, but would not focus for any length of time on either. He finally found a corner of the room which was of great interest.

"Then you don't think Drover was on his way to see you?"

"How could I know that?" Atwood asked cautiously.

"Your phone call to him," Jim said patiently.

"Oh, that," Atwood made a sound which he believed to be a laugh but which sounded more like a hen announcing the launching of an egg.

"Does the term 'four G's' mean anything to you?"

Atwood started shaking his head. "Four thousand dollars," Jim explained.

Atwood's negative shake stopped abruptly.

"Dollars mean something to me of course. I'm a banker."

"Mr. Atwood, we're investigating the death of Colorado City's Chief of Police. Otto Drover was a friend of yours. We have come to you for help."

"Haven't any to give," Atwood said.

It was 10 minutes after 9 the following morning when the hospital and a disapproving Dr. Pardon released Nancy Drover. Jim had waited some time in the lobby before the girl came out of the slowly moving elevator.

She looked much better, but still appeared to be in something of a daze. Jim took her arm, led her outside to a car he had borrowed. He was willing to wait, to let Nancy set any pattern for talking.

"Tell me, Jim, what you've found," Nancy said.

Dunn's eyelids felt as if they were made of a sturdy-quality emery paper. Too much coffee, too many cigarettes, too much useless talk during the night.

"That won't take long," Jim said. "We made a few motions, had a big choice of guesses. We got nowhere."

Nancy sat quietly as he drove, her lax hands folded in her lap.

"You take it easy for a while," Jim ordered. He decided this was his morning to be particularly stupid. Take it easy! In the presence of death, as in the case of love, real sincerity brought only stumbling words. It was the unfeeling people who could turn on the tap of nice phrases.

Jim stopped the borrowed car a short distance from the drive into the Drover garage.

Jim was out his side and around the car by the time someone had the door open.

"Nancy! Oh, my dear!"

He had not seen the young woman come out of the Drover house.

Nancy jerked up her head at the familiar voice. "Joan! Oh, Joan, I didn't want them to bring you back. Oh, Joan—I'm so glad you're here."

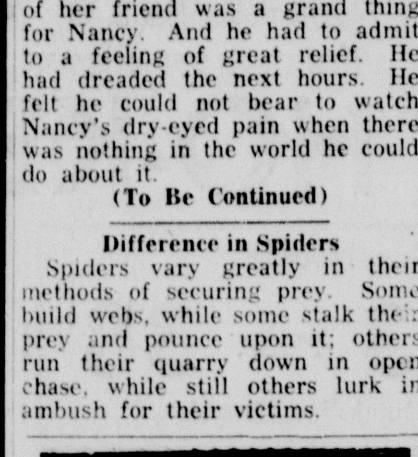

"Mark burgled the front door and let me in," Joan Richards said. She put her arm around Nancy's shoulders.

Dunn stood on the sidewalk and watched them walk slowly across the lawn to the Drover door. He knew he was completely forgotten for the moment, knew the arrival of her friend was a grand thing for Nancy. And he had to admit to a feeling of great relief. He had dreaded the next hours. He felt he could not bear to watch Nancy's dry-eyed pain when there was nothing in the world he could do about it.

Difference in Spiders

Spiders vary greatly in their methods of securing prey. Some build webs, while some stalk their prey and pounce upon it; others run their quarry down in open chase, while still others lurk in ambush for their victims.

SKYSCRAPER — The towering tresses of this French model are supposed to emulate the coiffure of Marie Antoinette. A Paris hairdresser used plastic fibers to create the unusual hairdo. It will be shown at an international exhibition in London, England.

Army Keeps Names Of Its Heroes Alive

WASHINGTON — The Army keeps the memory of its heroes alive long after their heroic deeds are forgotten by giving their names to forts and army camps.

For example, Fort Dix, N. J., honors Maj. Gen. John Adams Dix, who was commissioned at the age of 14 and later fought in the Battle of Lundy's Lane in the War of 1812. Dix went on to become secretary of the treasury in 1861.

Fort Lewis, Wash., got its name from Meriwether Lewis of the famous Lewis and Clark expedition.

Fort Bliss, Tex., was named in 1854 in honor of Maj. William S. Bliss—known as "Perfect Bliss" because of his efficiency as Zachary Taylor's adjutant general in the war with Mexico.

Fort Crockett, Tex., took its name from Davy Crockett, the famous hunter and legislator who died at the Alamo.

Today there are about 52 camps and forts in the United States that bear the names of Army officers who devoted their lives to serving their country. There are four camps named to honor enlisted men.

Oldest bridge over the Mississippi River probably is the Stone Arch bridge between Minneapolis and St. Paul, Minn.

Racial Potpourri No Worry to Hawaiians

HAWAIIAN POTPOURI: From left, their background is Chinese, Filipino, and Japanese.

By FRED SPARKS
NEA Staff Correspondent
HONOLULU — (NEA) — What do you think of a Japanese-American in the United States Senate?

For that is bound to happen when (and if) Hawaii, where 40 per cent of the 465,000 people are of the Japanese background, becomes the 49th state.

On these islands, where only 69,000 residents are all white, the question seldom worries any except a microscopic minority.

Hawaii is as American as the hot dog and movie drive-ins that line the broad, palm-fringed boulevards, even though the patrons swabbing mustard or spooning in the dark have brown and yellow skins.

Does anybody in Boston or Kansas City, anking down Main Street, worry whether the citizen alongside has parents that came from Germany, Poland or Ireland?

Here, on the endless beaches, nobody thinks whether the bathers came from Tokyo, Manila or Shanghai.

(The parentage or grandparentage break the population into these units: Japanese, 189,000; part Hawaiian, 77,000; all white, 69,000; Filipino, 63,000; Chinese, 32,000; pure Hawaiian, 13,000; Puerto Ricans, 10,000; Koreans, 7,000.)

This is not yet a perfect racial paradise, for there are snobs and cliques every place. But organized groups of hyphenated citizens are fast vanishing as America's newest melting pot gives the national dish an Oriental spice.

Intermarriage is commonplace here. A new race of physically attractive people—with that "Made in U. S. A." look—is growing up in the land of the hula-hula, knock-out for a loop Kipling's famous: "East is East and West is West and Never the Twain Shall Meet."

The other night I dined at the home of a Chinese-American family; other guests included a Japanese-American, Korean-American—and a Newspaperman-American.

My host, whose commissions are earned selling and buying Wall Street stocks, has a spanking new house complete with TV, deep-freeze and washing machine—but not a single fork; at home they still favor chopsticks. The 18-year-old son wore blue jeans, moccasins and T-shirt—and after chow hastened to get under and jazz up his hot rod roadster.

Just as in Milwaukee, a German-American family will stuff a guest with sauerbraten, they stuffed me with fried noodles, rice, bamboo shoots and other Cantonese goodies.

Next morning I visited the air-conditioned offices of Tsyukiyama and Yamaguchi, attorneys-at-law, which could be Todd and Yale, complete with pert stenos applying lipstick.

Wilfred Tsyukiyama, a handsome, highly intelligent white-haired gentleman, is Republican president of the Territorial Senate and a logical candidate (next November) for the U. S. Senate if statehood is granted.

If the Honorable Wilfred Tsyukiyama walks on the floor of the Senate, many of his colleagues will be meeting a man of Japanese extraction for the first time—but in 10 minutes they'll forget about it.

Later I visited the University of Hawaii campus and saw the new breed mixing in classroom and playing field. Grandpops might have had a pigtail—these athletic youngsters have crew cuts.

But a student plebiscite on "Do you favor statehood?" showed 13 per cent opposed. I was given these reasons:

"Don't like the idea of an Oriental Governor and Senator."

"Fear Communist control of local labor unions will mean political control."

"Think we retain our individual flavor better as a territory."

Actually statehood will be an anti-climax as far as any racial issue is concerned; that was eliminated by the McCarran Act, which broke the bars on foreign-born Asiatics winning citizenship.

Having been often to these islands, God-blessed with the world's finest climate, cleaner than any U. S. mainland city, younger (40 per cent under 21), statistically healthier and more modernized, I often wonder:

"Should Hawaii be trying to get admitted to the United States—or should the United States try to get admitted to Hawaii?"

Tips on Traffic Safety

By CHARLES F. CARPENTIER
Secretary of State

In city traffic, be especially careful when you are passing a bus which has pulled over to the right hand curb to allow passengers to get on or off. In most cities, the law does not require you to stop when the bus does, but passing it is, nevertheless, a potentially dangerous situation, and the danger can pop up very suddenly.

Pedestrians are not supposed to walk across the front of the bus while it is stopped and continue on across the street, but some of them insist upon doing it. You can't see them until the last instant, and you will have to do something about it quickly.

Be prepared for that possibility every time you pass a bus under those circumstances. Always plan your actions, adjust your speed as if you knew a pedestrian would appear at the corner of the bus just as your car reached the same point.

Have your mind on the brake pedal, if you don't actually have your foot on it. Then, if some pedestrian does foolishly or thoughtlessly step out in front of you, you can avoid hitting him.
